With Dr. Debra Rowe, Oakland Community College and Dr. Bert Jacobsen, Kankakee Community College

Understand how to make civic engagement come alive on your campus and in your community while growing your sustainability programs. Gain useful tools from a pilot project being implemented by a network of Illinois universities and colleges (Green Universities and Colleges) and AACC's SEED Center aimed at growing green jobs. In addition, hear a summary from discussions between AACC's Action Community and the Council on Environmental Quality at the White House and how you can engage students, faculty, and government relations staff in potential future sustainability-focused policies in play.
